

June 2001

Intelligence awards presented to four at Kirtland AFB DE Directorate by Conrad E. Dziwulski, Directed Energy Public Affairs

KIRTLAND AFB, N.M. - Members of the Air Force Research Laboratory's Directed Energy Directorate Intelligence Office recently won four Air Force Materiel Command Intelligence Awards.

1st Lt. Jamil D. Syed was named the Major General John S. Patton Outstanding Active Duty Intelligence Officer of the Year; Capt. Troy S. Utton, the Outstanding Officer Intelligence Contributor of the Year, Robert T. Keintz, Outstanding Intelligence Senior Level Civilian of the Year and Alfred Lee, Outstanding Intelligence Intermediate-Level Civilian of the Year.

Syed provided general and technical intelligence support to several laboratory divisions. Utton provided critical scientific and technical intelligence for several directed energy programs.

Keintz supported several national multi-million-dollar projects by providing crucial intelligence and assistance. Lee, as chief of the Special Security Office, managed the sensitive compartment information program for Kirtland Air Force Base without a single security incident.

They will represent the command in the Air Force Intelligence Awards Program competition. @

COMMAND INTELLIGENCE AWARDS – Air Force Research Laboratory, Intelligence Office members, from left, Capt. Troy S. Utton, 1st Lt. Jamil D. Syed, Robert T. Keintz and Alfred Lee were recently named Air Force Materiel Command Intelligence Award winners. (USAF photo by Conrad E. Dziwulski)